A picturesque summer girl looks coquettishly from the first page of August FASHIONS, her dainty wrap and hat giving a hint of the early fall styles, with their combinations of silk, chiffon, feathers and flowers. The fashion plates are numerous and elegant, showing gowns, suits and millinery for all occasions, not only for the older members of the family, but the tiny tots as well. Especially beautiful is an elaborate garden party gown from Redfern, while less complicated costumes abound for the benefit of the home dressmaker. The Paris letter and other fashion articles give the latest information regarding colors, fabrics and caprices of the moment.

The full page art picture, a feature highly prized by subscribers who wish to make a collection of copies of noted paintings, is this month by the artist Luke Fildes, R. A., and represents "An August Day in Venice."

Every reader of FASHIONS who is musically inclined will be delighted to find the "Cuckoo Polka," a bright and catchy composition, written especially for FASHIONS by Harry Zickel, the author of the famous "Black America March," of which 200,000 copies were sold in one year. Combining brilliancy of effect with ease of execution, it is sure to make a hit. In length it is equal to the 40c pieces sold at the music stores.

DOLAN ELATED

He Says Misleading Statements Have Been Sent Out and Not Fifty Men are Working.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 31.—President Dolan, of the miners, arrived in Pittsburg from camp at DeArmit's mines at [illegible] o'clock this morning, to attend some business, and at 10 o'clock returned to the mines. He is elated over the success of the movement in bringing out the men of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company and says the result exceeds his brightest anticipations. He says that the correspondents who are on the ground, are sending misleading reports on the situation. The [illegible] was made on the Plum Creek mine, he said, at an early hour and with few exceptions the diggers [illegible] to work. This mine was not [illegible] yesterday as the strikers devoted all their energies to the Sandy Creek and Turtle Creek mines.

"The Sandy Creek mine is as silent as the grave," said Mr. Dolan, "and yesterday but [illegible] men were at work in the [illegible] Turtle Creek. I have just come from a visit to the mines and [illegible] state positively that not more than fifty men are at work in all the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company mines. There will not be a man at work on Monday. I am greatly encouraged over our success and the prospects of winning the big strike are brighter than at any time since it was inaugurated. The close of the fourth week of the strike shows more miners idle in the country than at any time in the history of the coal industry."

The strikers declare that no attention will be paid to [illegible] Lowry's proclamation; they will remain where they are and will, if necessary, assemble thousands of men of all trades [illegible] in sympathy with the [illegible] miners and keep them there until every employe of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company is forced, by shame, to lay down his pick and join the ranks of the strikers. The strikers' camp presents rather a peculiar appearance. It reminds one of the camp of Coxey's army pitched while marching to Washington, except that there is a different looking class gathered about.

The people of Turtle Creek are treating the miners very [illegible] and great baskets of provisions are carried there for them. At all meetings that have been held collections were taken up, with which such provisions as are not [illegible] are purchased. Altogether the strikers, many of them, are faring better now than they have for months in the past.

LOOKED LIKE TROUBLE.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July [illegible]—A large number of men [illegible] miners at Plum Creek before the marchers arrived. This being the last day of the month, it is the end of a pay period, and the [illegible] grew into the mines two hours earlier, so that they could [illegible] their account by a big day. The marchers approached the [illegible] by the Monroeville road. The property adjoins the center [illegible] house, in Plum township, [illegible] the dividing line between the properties the marchers [illegible] by a deputy sheriff [illegible] told them they [illegible] go any further on the [illegible] road. The leaders of [illegible] pushed him aside and went [illegible] Twenty or thirty other [illegible] hurried to the scene and the [illegible] were brought to a standstill [illegible] twenty yards of the [illegible] men were very indignant [illegible] moment it looked as though [illegible] would be serious trouble. At [illegible] juncture Superintendent [illegible] arrived on the scene and [illegible] strikers that his men had [illegible] entered the mines and that [illegible] with the deputy sheriffs was [illegible] very foolish action as that [illegible] surely result in large numbers [illegible] arrested and would be the [illegible] thing they could do for the [illegible] The strikers then withdrew.

CLASH SEEMS IMMINENT.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 31.—[illegible] has been a change in the [illegible] stage at the DeArmit mines [illegible] clash between the strikers [illegible] deputy sheriffs seems im[illegible] The mines at Oak Hill and [illegible] Creek are being operated [illegible] few men. Most of the [illegible] miners live at Turtle Creek [illegible] demonstrations of the strik[illegible] ing in the Gospel tent have [illegible] dated them. At Sandy Creek [illegible] 20 per cent. of the miners [illegible] ing, but at the Plum Creek [illegible] which is now the oldest [illegible] concern on the part of [illegible] and DeArmit, all the men [illegible] ing. A representative [illegible] dated Press was admitted [illegible] side of the Plum Creek [illegible] talked with about a [illegible] men while they were at [illegible] of the men spoken to said [illegible] no sympathy with the str[illegible] that they would not leave [illegible] unless they were driven out [illegible] of the men are armed [illegible] that they will not be intim[idated].

The strikers then went [illegible] behind the school house, [illegible] continued to make demon[strations] about the mine and a [illegible] stones were thrown. The [illegible] of loaded cars coming from [illegible] mouth agitated the strikers [illegible]

[illegible] deputy sheriffs established a new picket line, each man holding a loaded revolver in his right hand while a reserve force of fifty deputies were in the office armed with rifles. The strikers, worn out by the marching, then settled down. Samuel DeArmit went among them and distributed pipes and tobacco. These were enjoyed and many of the men went to sleep. The news of the march to the Plum Creek mine reached Thomas DeArmit at Oak Hill and, finding that the telephone wire had been cut, he drove to Plum Creek. He found all quiet and his brother distributing the pipes and tobacco.

During the excitement of the morning one of the deputies had a fit and fell in convulsions. This had much to do with quieting affairs, as the strikers crowded around to assist him.

This afternoon the strikers announced their intention of camping at the Center school house and remaining there until Monday, in order to see that the miners do not go back to work.

FIRST ACT OF VIOLENCE.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 31.—The first act of violence since the mining strike was inaugurated, was committed at 3 o'clock this morning when a small bridge on the Wheeling and Lake Erie road, between the mining settlements of Dillonvale and Long Run, was fired. Employes of the company saw the blaze and extinguished it, but not until the structure had been half destroyed. The road was blocked this morning, but will be opened by this evening. The affair caused much excitement throughout the valley and the company is making preparations to guard its property more effectually. The strikers deny being implicated and claim it was the work of their enemies.

FLANNAGAN'S NECK

Will Dangle at the Rope's End August 25.

Convicted of Killing Two Women Near Atlanta—Tried to Sole Young Girls.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 30.—Edwin Flannagan, who has been on trial all this week at Decatur for the murder of Mrs. Nancy Allen and Miss Ruth Slack, on the evening of the 21st of last December, was this morning found guilty by the jury and immediately sentenced by Judge Candler to be hanged Wednesday, August 25.

Flannagan is a carpenter and was formerly in the employ of the Standard Oil company, in whose service he traveled to various southern cities where depots of the company were being built. He had a mania for making love to and seeking to marry very young girls. His method was to advertise for a nurse for a mythical niece, and when young girls made application he would select the prettiest of the lot and propose marriage. Through such an advertisement he made the acquaintance of and went to board with the family of George W. Allen, living in Dekalb county, near Atlanta. There he conceived a mad infatuation for little Lottie Allen, the eleven year-old daughter of the house. He asked her father for the child's hand in marriage, but the request was not taken seriously. When he had been put off several times he became morbid and conceived the horrible idea that Allen was having improper relations with his own daughter. On the night of December 21, after eating supper with the family he went to his room, got a pistol and returning to the supper table shot at George Allen wounding him slightly. In the confusion that followed he fired promiscuously killing the mother of George Allen instantly, and wounding Miss Slack, a visitor, so that she died soon afterwards. When arrested, Flannagan explained his crime by saying that a plot was being formed against him by the Allen family because of his discovery of the relations existing between the father and daughter, and that he killed to escape being killed. The testimony in the trial revealed the most remarkable case of sexual perversion on record in the courts of this state.

UNDER BOND.

Coils of Law Tighten About an Alleged Crook.

The Supposed Confederate of the Foellinger Safe Robber Bound Over in the Sum of $1,000.

The supposed confederate of the Foellinger safe robber was arraigned before Mayor Scherer this morning, and was bound over in the sum of $1,000. When arrested yesterday afternoon the prisoner gave his name as Frank Hills. In court today he gave the name of John Forbear, and stated that his home was at Montreal, Canada. He refused to testify. His attorney, E. V. Emrick, pleaded not guilty for him. The evidence against him was damaging, and Deputy Prosecutor Thomas says there is a clear case for the state, there being no doubt in his mind that the prisoner is a dangerous crook.

John Greer testified that the man was in his saloon yesterday and engaged Jacob Bickel in conversation. Bickel had left a bicycle standing outside the saloon and when he went out the wheel was gone. Mr. Muldoon, the Calhoun street grocer, informed the prosecutor that Forbear entered the store yesterday and tried to induce the clerk to walk half a square away on the pretense of showing him where he wanted some groceries delivered. The clerk was alone and refused to go. The evidence goes to show that the two crooks travel together, and while one lures the single occupant of the store to the sidewalk the other goes through the safe or cash drawer. It is a bold kind of thievery, but one to which many merchants would be easily susceptible. The man who is now locked up insists that he is strictly honest, but the court regards this as a huge joke. His story that he lives at Montreal and has a wife and three children there is doubted. The officers think that the man who committed the robbery is still in the city, in fact at a late hour they were working on a clue and the arrest may be made this afternoon.

Elder, sailed for Dyea, Alaska, at 11 o'clock last night with 385 passengers, nearly all of whom are bound for the Klondyke. A DELUSION.

So the St. James Gazette Calls John Bull's Climb-Down.

Says British Statesmen are Laying Up Future Disasters for Great Britain and America.

LONDON, July 31.—The St. James Gazette, referring to the forthcoming international conference on the sealing question, says: "The Americans will consider the conference another climb down for the British and, not unnaturally, Mr. Sherman's dispatch will be regarded as the direct cause. The United States makes a quite unwarranted demand. We ignore it. Then the American state department sends a menancing, insulting dispatch. We promptly yield. It is the Venezuelan business and Cleveland message again. And once again it will confirm the American political mind in the conviction that John Bull always knuckles down when bullied and threatened. Our statesmen are preparing future disasters for both countries by encouraging this dangerous delusion."

Paul Dunbar, the negro poet, who owes to W. D. Howells his introduction to the public, is being lionized in London in a most flattering fashion. The color line is not drawn in English society and the colored verse being the latest literary novelty is much sought for receptions, garden parties and similar gatherings. His readings of his own verses have been highly praised by the press, nor are the criticisms of the verses themselves less friendly.

John W. Foster left for New York by the St. Louis from Southampton this morning. Ambassador Hay and the members of the United States embassy were at Waterloo station to bid him farewell.

The forthcoming issue of the National Review will contain a long article upon the success of the American bimetallic commission. The article confirms what has already been cabled on this subject by the correspondent of the Associated Press, and says: "It is now generally recognized by all except ostriches, that Great Britain's chief contribution will be the re-opening of the Indian mints, which all who appreciate the question must regard as a splendid subscription to the common pool."

The day is being observed by every convent under the jurisdiction of the order.

WILL DRIVE NO MORE

Frank Bogash's Injuries are Quite Serious.

And He Will Retire From the Sulky for the Season—The Horse May be Sold.

Frank Bogash, the well known and popular reinsman, arrived home this morning from Cleveland. He is much more badly injured than was believed by his friends and it was necessary to carry him from the train and convey him to his home in a hack. Doctors were called and after an examination announced that it would not be possible for him to drive any more this season. His spine is affected and it is believed that he has internal injuries, besides being badly bruised.

L. A. Centlivre said this morning that an offer of $6,000 had been received from J. W. Hanley, an eastern turfman, for the horse, Frank Bogash, and that he would go to Columbus, where the little pacer is now stabled, and if the offer was still open he would sell. If a satisfactory sale cannot be arranged, the animal will be turned over to Mr. Simms, a well known driver. Dozens of telegrams were received this morning from reinsmen asking for the privilege of driving the great pacer, who is entered in purses yet to be contested aggregating about $25,000.

The friends of Frank Bogash, the driver, are sorry that this accident should happen just when he had developed a horse that was liable to lead all the winners of the year and hope that he will speedily and entirely recover from the accident.

It is also hoped that the owners will not sell the animal, for to them he seems to be worth much more than the price offered and for the city and the horse business of Indiana he has been a wonderful advertisement.

THE SOCIAL DEMOCRACY.

Eugene V. Debs Says It Will Formulate a National Political Platform.

CHICAGO, July 31.—The New Time of Monday will contain an article by Eugene Debs in which he says: "The social democracy is a great social, economic and political organization. It is at once national and international. Politically speaking, it is a party within and for itself, and within twelve months its national representatives will have formulated a national political platform. Similarly, the various state representatives will have adopted state platforms and the municipal representatives local platforms. By far the greater part of the criticism has been directed against the colonization scheme and there are those who still insist that this is all there is to the movement, or at least, that this is its chief purpose. To all of these be it said that the proposed colonization scheme is simply one of the features of the movement and has been assigned a special department known as the colonization department. There has never been any intention to organize isolated colonies, and they who have worked themselves up in describing the fate of other colonies and predicting calamity have been wasting their time."

MINER'S DAY.

Meeting of Citizens Called to Awaken Sympathy

The Trades and Labor Council last evening took up the cause of the starving miners by adopting a resolution to act upon the appeal of Governor Mount for the raising of funds to extend aid to the sufferers. The following resolution was introduced by George R. Hench and adopted:

WHEREAS, An urgent appeal has been issued by the governor of Indiana for aid for the now destitute miners of our state, and

WHEREAS, As yet no action has been taken on the appeal by the citizens of Fort Wayne, therefore be it

Resolved, That the officers of the Trades and Labor council call a public meeting of all citizens at some suitable place to devise ways and means to raise money for the benefit of the starving miners of our great commonwealth. The date to be fixed August 5, Miners' day.

A committee consisting of Mr. Hench, chairman, George F. Hess and John C. Mitchell was appointed to make arrangements for a meeting of citizens to be held next Thursday. It is expected that Mayor Scherer will preside and that a number of good speakers will be present, among them J. R. Sovereign, grand master of the Knights of Labor. At a conference of executives of various branches of labor organizations, held at Wheeling, W. Va., a few days ago, the coming Thursday was set aside as "Miners' Day," when it is to be hoped that labor all over the country will rally to the aid of the downtrodden victims who are now in the depths of distress. Indianapolis, Evansville and other cities in the state have done much to relieve the sufferers and it is expected that the mass meeting set for next week will result in Fort Wayne doing her share. Governor Mount, who detailed a committee to investigate the condition of the miners, vouches for the widespread misery and promises that all money contributed will reach the needy and not fall into other hands. The place of meeting will be announced hereafter.

J. J. KINTZ.

Former Fort Wayne Citizen Dies at Canton, Ill.

Demise of Mrs. Martha Miller, of Jefferson Township—Other Deaths and Funerals.

Mrs. E. B. Furste, of 73 East Berry street, received word early this morning of the death of her father, Mr. J. J. Kintz, at his home in Canton, Ill., at the advanced age of eighty-three years. The remains will be brought to this city for interment and will arrive at 5:30 Sunday morning and be taken to the residence of Mrs. Furste. The funeral will take place at 4 o'clock from the Cathedral tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Kintz was formerly a resident of Fort Wayne, and was well known to the older citizens. He was born and raised in Somerset county, Ohio, and in his early manhood located in Fort Recovery, Ohio. He was a man of great physical strength and endurance, and up to the last few years had been engaged in active business pursuits, and in spite of his advanced age, retained all his faculties in good condition to the time of his last illness, which dates back about three weeks. He was a faithful member of the Catholic church all his life and was the last surviving member of the committee who built the Cathedral in this city. He was esteemed and respected by all who knew him for his integrity of character and sterling honesty in all his dealing.

SATURDAY, JULY 31, 1897.

We didn't win, but my, we came close.

An effort is to be made in Fort Wayne to assist the striking miners. They deserve it.

Now that congress is adjourned Mr. Prosperity should fill his dates. He will be royally welcomed in Fort Wayne.

Klondykers are not alarmed over the phrase, "It's a cold day when a man can pick up gold." On the Klondyke when it isn't cold it is colder.

If ice cream will really stop hiccoughs as it is said, hiccoughs will run a close race for popularity with hay fever as a disease for young ladies to be afflicted with.

The rush to the gold diggings will reduce the volume of jingo talk. After a winter on the Klondyke many a wild spirit will be a willing candidate for peace and plenty.

Duke Charles used to boast that no man could have less real value for character than himself, yet he would gladly give £20,000, so it was asserted, for a good character, because he could readily make double that sum by means of it.

In the markets of Brazil one often sees live snakes—a species of boa—from ten to fifteen feet long. They are employed in many houses to hunt rats at night, being otherwise perfectly harmless. They become attached to a house like a cat or a dog.

It is by doing that we learn to do; by overcoming that we learn to overcome; by obeying reason and conscience that we learn to obey; and every right act which we cause to spring out of pure principles, whether by authority, precept, or example, will have a greater weight in the formation of character than all the theory in the world.—Morell.

Benjamin Holman, a photographer in Memphis, Tenn., made his own will shortly before his death the other day. He bequeathed everything to his wife, made her executrix without bond and said: "I think more of and put more confidence in my wife than I do any man, and I think her perfectly competent to attend to her own business, and if she cannot take care of her own property she will be the only one to suffer. And as I am no lawyer," the will concludes, "and always was opposed to whereas and the aforesaids and so and sos, this will be readily recognized as my plain way of doing business and allowed to stand as my last will and testament." The estate is valuable.

The South Bend Times truthfully says: "The great trouble with too many people is—not that they have not the money wherewith to pay bills upon presentation, but that they lack the inclination to pay promptly. They seem to overlook the important fact that they may be putting somebody to great inconvenience by putting off the collector when he calls. Collecting bills is not undertaken for pleasure or pastime; it is purely for business. The money is needed for business purposes, to do good. Needlessly putting the collector off, and telling him to call again later on, when you have the money to pay the bill in your pocket or in your drawer, is decidedly unbusinesslike and reveals a spirit that is in direct conflict with the injunction: 'Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.'"

Kissing the Holy Bible.

It is generally assumed that "kissing the book" is, or at any rate was until recently, a necessary part of the legal ceremony of oath taking. This assumption is, however, probably not justified. It would appear that the most ancient form of swearing in the Christian church was to lay the hand upon the Gospels and say, "So help me God and these holy Gospels." This seems to have been the usual ceremony accompanying a judicial oath until at all events, the end of the sixteenth century, for Lord Coke says: "It is called a corporal oath because he (the witness) toucheth with his hand some part of the holy Scriptures." Coke says not one word about kissing the book.

When the practice of kissing the book began is, says the "Law Journal," undetermined. It has been stated that this form was first prescribed as part of the ceremony of taking the oaths of allegiance and supremacy. It is interesting and may be significant to note that Shakespeare only once alludes to the practice of kissing the book, and on that occasion turns it into ridicule. Whatever the origin of the practice, there can be no doubt that kissing the book was the ceremony that usually accompanied the taking of an oath in an English court of justice in the seventeenth century. But in 1657 there occurred a case which is of some importance. It appears that on a jury trial Dr. Owen, vice chancellor of Oxford University, being called as a witness, refused to be sworn in the usual way, by laying his right hand on the book and afterward kissing it, but he caused the book to be held open before him, and he raised his right hand. The jury, doubting what credit they ought to give to his oath, the matter was referred to the chief justice, who ruled that Dr. Owen "had taken as good an oath as any other witness." And then the chief justice added an observation which in "Comyn's Reports," in "Macnally on Evidence" and elsewhere is misquoted as follows: "If I were to be sworn I would kiss the book." Now, that is not at all what the chief justice said. The words in Siderfin's report are these, "Il dit s'il fuit deste Jure il voilt deponer sa main dexter sur le liver mesme." Thus the chief justice says not one word about kissing the book.

LOOKS LIKE JUDGMENT.

Death of Brakeman Walters Closely Follows That of Patrick Rafferty.

Shelbyville, Ind., July 31.—James Rafferty was killed by the cars here Sunday morning early. As he had been drinking it was thought that he had fallen from the train. At the inquest today, however, testimony was given to the effect that Rafferty was knocked from the train by Brakeman Daniel Walters, who struck Rafferty in the head with a coupling pin.

Today Walters was running along between the cars to uncouple them, when they should become slack. His foot caught in a frog and he was thrown down lengthwise on the rail. He was horribly mangled, pieces of his body being scattered along the track. He was married and a resident of Indianapolis.

National Political Headquarters.

Washington, July 31.—The republican national committee is maintaining its headquarters here during the summer, and keeping a force of employes at work getting out documents for use in those states where the campaign next fall will be of a national character. The states are Iowa, Maryland and Ohio. The legislatures which will be elected by them next fall, will choose United States senators.

The free silver men are not behind the republicans in their industry. The American Bimetallic union has headquarters here with Messrs. Geo. E. Bowen and H. F. Bartine in charge. Literature bearing on the free silver question is being distributed. Much of it goes to Iowa and Ohio.

The Huntington News-Democrat: "Homer C. Underwood, who was the candidate for prosecuting attorney on the democratic ticket at the last election, has moved to Fort Wayne. He will engage in the practice of law there with his brother, Linous D. Underwood. The latter has been filling the position of fourth assistant patent examiner and in a short time will graduate at Columbia university, Washington, D. C., in science and law. Homer was deputy prosecuting attorney during part of Mr. Cook's term of that office, and was for a time local editor of the News. He is a young man of ability and integrity, and is a good lawyer. The News-Democrat hopes he will meet with abundant success in this new field.—Mrs. Piepenbrink and daughter, Clara, and Miss Blanch Covert, of Fort Wayne, who were guests of Mrs. Fred Lahr, returned to their homes Thursday."

Columbia City Post: "Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Nulf returned home to Fort Wayne today, after a visit with the family of John E. Smith, of Thorn Creek township. While visiting there both of their children were afflicted with and died from diphtheria.—Mrs. R. F. Kinnaird and children returned home to Fort Wayne last evening, after a short visit in the city and county.—Leopold and Max Kraus went to Fort Wayne last evening on account of the death of Mrs. Isaac Trauerman.—Mrs. A. Kramer went to Fort Wayne this morning and will remain until after the funeral of Mrs. Isaac Trauerman."

Jay Read and Charlie Brackenridge have returned from a bicycle tour in which they visited Plymouth, Lake Maxinkuckee, South Whitley, Warsaw and other towns. They report a very pleasant trip. They will leave on their wheels for Rome City next Monday and will occupy the Keil cottage at that resort.

Gear went into the box for Fort Wayne yesterday and the Marones lost. Gear was hit often, but not consecutively and good support prevented the Youngstowns from scoring until the seventh inning when they sent three runners over the plate. Fort Wayne had scored two runs earlier in the game and in the ninth tied the score. The egg rollers were able to get a run also in the ninth and chalked up a victory. These games are for blood and if Fort Wayne wins today with Monahan in the box the club again be in fourth place.

THE SCORE.

Other Inter-State Games.

Mansfield, Ohio, July 31.—Toledo won in a walk, batting Ely, Mansfield's crack pitcher, for a total of thirty-seven bases. The score:

Mansfield . . . 0 0 0 0 0 0 6 0 0—6
Toledo . . . 2 1 0 0 3 3 2 4 1—16

Batteries—Ely and Vetter; Keenan and Arthur. Hits—Mansfield, 11; Toledo, 24. Errors—Mansfield, 3; Toledo, 3.

New Castle, July 31.—New Castle won yesterday's game by the cleanest kind of ball playing. It was a pitched battle, Smith holding Springfield down to two hits. It was a pretty game all the way through. Both clubs pulled out of tight holes. Score:

New Castle . . . 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—2

Hits—Springfield, 2; New Castle, 4. Errors—Springfield, 3; New Castle, 0. Batteries—Poole and Rupert; Smith and Graffius. Umpire—Colgan.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 31.—Wheeling was again outplayed and lost through bad errors by Coyle and weak hitting. Campbell pitched a good game, but received poor support. The score:

Wheeling . . . 0 0 0 0 4 0 0 0 0—4

Base Hits—Wheeling 4; Dayton, 6. Errors—Wheeling, 6; Dayton, 3. Batteries—For Wheeling, Campbell and Messitt; for Dayton, Bates and Kellner. Umpire—Keefe.

NOTES.

Fred Cooke played his first game with Cleveland yesterday and only had one chance, which he accepted without an error. At bat he failed to make a hit.

Youngstown Telegram: "Every one will wish Fred Cooke, late manager of the Fort Wayne club, the fullest measure of success as one of Tebeau's Indians."

Thayer Torreyson is at his home at McKeesport, Pa., without an engagement, as the men who were sick on the Youngstown team have recovered and there was no place for him.

Frank Fitch, our shortstop, whose home is at Youngstown, was presented with a silver tea service by personal friends during the Youngstown-Fort Wayne game at Youngstown Thursday afternoon.

Baltimore has played 19 different men this season, Boston, 19; Brooklyn, 18; Chicago, 19; Cincinnati, 13; Cleveland, 20; Louisville, 28; New York, 20; Philadelphia, 21; Pittsburg, 20; St. Louis, 24 and Washington, 19, making a total of 246.

Some of the best amateur hitters in Fort Wayne have gone up against Gaffney, who is pitching for Huntington, and in three games played the past month, planted the pigskin in safe territory but five times. Gaffney has a great wing this season, and receives superb support.

Youngstown Telegram: "Darby and Monahan are the worst cases of cold molasses pitchers seen on Parson park this season, says the New Castle News. You could see a century plant bloom before they get ready to deliver a ball. Nothing short of building a fire under them would hurry them in the least. It is a wonder they don't get the whiskers and hair which they grow in the box tangled up with their pitching arm."

The Buddy McPhee testimonial at Cincinnati on Wednesday netted fully $3,500. After a street parade, in which McPhee and Mayor Taft appeared in a carriage, a game was played at League park between the newspaper men and merchants, which McPhee umpired. Fully 3,500 people were present.

Mansfield News: "Arthur, Toledo's catcher, has a touch of big head and talks entirely too much for a man who is not captain of the team. He not only chews with the umpire when he is dead wrong, but he goes after the players on the Toledo team." That's what makes Arthur high class. He always fights for the game.

At Huntington yesterday afternoon the Spy Runs were defeated. The game was a pitchers' battle, in which Gaffney, who officiated in the box for Huntington, had a shade the best of the argument. The Spy Runs connected safely with the ball but once. Zimmerman held the Huntingtons down to three hits. Both teams fielded sharply. The score was 4 to 1.

Youngstown Telegram: "The members of the Fort Wayne team are about as gentlemanly a lot of ball players as has been seen on the local grounds this year, and what is more, they play the game from start to finish.—It will be noticed that 'Gloat' Fitch is playing about as fast a game as any of them at the present time, and as usual his base running is a feature of every game in which he participates.—Peck Sharp is as much a comedian on the diamond as was ever the far-famed Arlie Latham."

An exchange says: "What a vast difference there is in the management of the Springfield and Wheeling teams. The former, instead of throwing up its hands and being ready to quit, pluckily stuck to it, secured a new manager, reorganized the club, and went into the game to win. In consequence the Governors, though not far up in the race, represent a lively lot of ball players, ones that will make all kinds of trouble before the season is done, and President Nelson is to be complimented for his gameness." Right you are.

Dayton Times: "Oliver Tebeau, the fighting manager of the Cleveland National league club, was in Dayton yesterday afternoon trying to make a dicker with the local club for the services of Pitcher Brown, the great left hander. But he had to go away last night without Brown's release as he would not pay the price asked. Manager Torreyson said he would release Brown outright for $1,000. But Tebeau only offered $300 cash and $700 at the end of three weeks if he proved satisfactory, or would return him to the club. Manager Torreyson said that Brown was of value to the home club and he would never consent to let him get away from the Dayton club unless there was a good price given for him. Tebeau is aware that Brown can be drafted in six weeks from now for $500, but Brown is a big favorite and the Dayton club is not pushed for money and therefore if Cleveland or any other club wants him they will have to pay the price. Pittsburg was given an option on him a week ago at $900, but his price has gone up some since then as there is now six different clubs trying to get him. He is without doubt the star of the Inter-State league and no pitcher is liked better than Brown."

CON MAY SERVE.

The Youngstown Telegram says: "Manager George Darby last evening received a message from Con Strouthers, who is at present in Canton, in which he states he would like the management of the Hoosier organization. He says he will make a winner of the team if given a chance, but George thinks the club can't do much better than at present, and it is needless to say that Connie was turned down."

Thousands of men in every walk of life all over the world are playing a desperate game with Death for an opponent. They are playing with an opponent who has every advantage and the outcome of the game is as certain as—Death. The man in any walk of life, who is too hard worked, too busy, to take care of his health has only himself to blame when the final break down comes. It is easy to keep health while one has it, but uphill work to win it back when it is lost. A man neglects a slight indigestion. Then his appetite gets poor. That is a trifle and he pays no attention to it. Then he complains of headaches and it is hard to work or think. His sleep becomes restless and he only gets troubled spells of it. He gets nervous and irritable. Everything goes wrong both at home and at business. He persists in paying no attention to his health. Then some day he breaks down. The doctor says nervous prostration or consumption as the case may be. He has been playing a game with death and has been checkmated at the weakest point.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is an unfailing cure for all disorders of the digestion and the deadly maladies that follow in their train. It is the great blood maker, flesh builder, and nerve tonic. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It is an unfailing remedy for nervous prostration and exhaustion. Thousands of men have testified to their recovery under its use, after all other remedies had failed. All druggists sell it. Do not deal with a druggist who offers you a substitute for he is not only dishonest but willing to sacrifice your health and possibly your life for a few added pennies of profit.

A clear complexion. Any one can have it who keeps the blood pure. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them.

IT WAS PRETTY

The Christening of Jewel Lake at Bethany Park.

The Indianapolis News has the following:

"One of the prettiest services of the week at Bethany park was the christening of the lake just after the supper hour last evening. The ceremony took place on the lawn just above the boat landing. President L. L. Carpenter said that all the buildings on the ground had been named, but for some reason or other no name had ever been given the lake.

"Mr. Carpenter introduced to John W. Younge, of Fort Wayne, who christened the lake "Jewel," after his son, and expressed the wish that the lives of all present might be as peaceful as the lake then was. Jewel Younge is a grandson of L. Berry Smith, at one time one of Indiana's prominent preachers in the Christian church, and one of the founders of Bethany assembly.

"It was in recognition of his services that the lake was named for his grandson. The service closed with song. The young people then repaired for an hour the pleasure of boating. It was the first time that many boats had been seen on the lake."

The W. H. M. society of Wayne street M. E. church will meet with Mrs. Huestis Tuesday, August 10th. Mrs. Quackenbush will lead the devotions. Mrs. Lahr will read a paper, subject: "Mission Bands and Circles." Mrs. Huestis' subject is "Mother's Jewels" and "Watts DePeyster."

Less than 25 years ago an invoice of as few as 12 bunches of bananas was enough to glut the market in any of our seaport cities. Now it takes nearly 15,000,000 bunches a year to supply us with this palatable product of the tropics, and at New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New Orleans two or three banana steamers, each loaded to the gunwales with thousands of bunches, arrive every week in the year. Thus do our tastes grow.

The Mayor of Manitou Lays Claim to Pike's Peak.

While Professor Andree is making his great aerial ascent at the north pole Dr. Albert E. Lewis is preparing to walk off with Pike's peak—not exactly walk off with the peak, but with a clear and incontrovertible title to that big bowlder. Truly this is enterprise with a very large E. Indeed if the fact were not a matter of official record few would give it credence.

But it is even so. Dr. Lewis, mayor of Manitou, the little Colorado town that nestles at the foot of the lordly peak, not only claims ownership of this the highest accessible mountain top in the Rockies, but will soon lay his claims before the supreme court of the United States and demand immediate and undisputed possession of the noble old landmark.

This astonishing claim is based upon a filing made by Dr. Lewis under date of Feb. 3, 1890, when at the Pueblo land office he made an old soldier's declaratory statement upon land which includes the entire summit of Pike's peak.

Lewis made this filing immediately after the issuance of President Cleveland's proclamation transferring the entire mountain from the war department to the department of the interior. In the face of the rigors of perpetual cold and in spite of all obstacles he took up his residence on the peak and maintained it during the three years requi[site] [illegible]

PREACHER BY DAY, THIEF BY NIGHT.

The Strange Dual Life of Alonzo Whitman, Evangelist.

AN ACCOMPLISHED HORSE THIEF.

Generally Stole From the Brethren Who Had Entertained Him. His Daring Methods. Had a Habit of Marrying Too. Now Half a Dozen Prisons Yawn For Him.

A preacher of the gospel by day and a daring horse thief at night—that, in brief, has been the career of Alonzo J. Whitman, who was released from the Northern prison of Indiana a few days ago after serving two years time.

From the Indiana penitentiary he was taken to [illegible] in Ohio and after he has served his time there he will undergo the penal service of Illinois and then go from prison to prison until society's long standing score against him has been settled.

Whitman is of no ordinary caliber. As a leader of horse thieves he never had an equal in the central states. His sermons were filled with tenderness, enthusiasm and earnestness, and he had the rare faculty of being able to easily sway the minds of men. But it was not until he was 60 years old that his Jekyll-Hyde character and his crimes were discovered.

His influence over women was no less. More than half a dozen wives are scattered through the states in which he alternately prayed and stole.

Whitman is an Ohioan. Even when a young man he attracted a great deal of attention because of his shrewdness. [illegible]

WHITMAN IN HIS TWO FIELDS OF INDUSTRY.

...board. He spoke only a few moments, but the court and the great crowd in the room were affected by the eloquent and pathetic fairy tale that he told. He only got two years.

Before his arrest Whitman had shaved off his beard. When it grew again, the identity of Williams was discovered, and the preacher horse thief confessed his many changes to his old time variety. [illegible]

Whitman's term having ended, he stepped out of his cell only to find six deputy sheriffs from as many sections of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio lined up in the office waiting for him.

Whitman's methods were daring and unique. How many thieves were in the gang will never be known, but there were twenty or more in the retail business who attended to the selling of the horses. The horses were taken by men who were easy to [illegible] them. They were smuggled away to places where bleaching outfits had been built by the gang. Many horses went [illegible] through a bleaching process which changed the color. He was bolted, groomed splendidly, fed, and at last placed on the market in Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Columbus, Indianapolis or smaller points.

Killed by a Stuffed Leopard.

A stuffed leopard recently killed a man in Paris. The animal had been the pet of an eccentric old lady, who had it well done, and the leopard became so offensive that the servant was told to get rid of it. She threw it out of the window, where it landed on the head of a clerk passing through the street, who was so frightened that he died of stroke of apoplexy.

THEIR POINT OF VIEW.

A Matter That Embarrassed Customs Officials and Shocked a Lady.

They had just got the new scheme for inspecting baggage by X rays in operation, and the haughty young woman who had just got off the steamer was waiting to have hers inspected. Furthermore, she thought there had been more delay than necessary, and she was somewhat provoked. Consequently when one of the officials motioned her to step a little to one side she declined to move.

There was a short consultation among the officials, and one of them finally advanced toward her.

"If madam would kindly"—he began.

"Sir!" she interrupted haughtily.

"It would be a great favor if you would move a little," he said rather diffidently.

"Why should I?" she demanded. "It is decidedly presumptuous in you to speak to me at all. I've been waiting here 15 minutes for my baggage, and during that time you haven't done a thing but stand there and look at me and talk to the other inspectors."

"The fact is," explained the man in the same diffident way, as if something worried him, "that you are in the way."

"In what?" she asked. "It seems to me that you are the most impudent set of officials that I ever knew. The idea of asking me to move as a mere matter of convenience to you! There's plenty of room to inspect the baggage without annoying me, and you ought to be at work at it now."

"But we can't," protested the man. "You see, we don't open the trunks any more. We just put them under the X rays and inspect them that way."

"Well, why don't you do it?" she demanded irritably.

"Because, madam—because"—

The inspector hitched about nervously.

"Because," he continued at last, "you're standing right in the rays now, where we want to put the trunks."

There was a scream and the place was vacant.—Chicago Post.

Not Fooled.

"Man," said the oracular boarder, "is being rapidly displaced by soulless and inanimate machinery."

"But woman ain't," said the ungrammatical boarder. "The phonograph hasn't fazed her."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

LESSON V, THIRD QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, AUG. 1.

Text of the Lesson, Acts xviii, 1-11—Memory Verses, 9-11—Golden Text, I Cor. iii, 11—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

1. "After these things Paul departed from Athens and came to Corinth." He is still led and controlled by the Spirit, and if the Spirit had not now wanted him in Corinth He would not have suffered him to go (chapter xvi, 6, 7). Thus also we may know His way for us. If we are honestly living unto Him who has bought us to be set apart for Himself, then wherever He would have us to go the door will be open and the way plain, and where He does not want us He will close the door and hinder us from going.

2. "And found a certain Jew named Aquila, born in Pontus, lately come from Italy, with his wife Priscilla." Then, as now, the Jews were made to move on. They had chosen Caesar instead of their Messiah, and instead of rest, which Christ would have given them, they have been to this day driven hither and thither and persecuted in many lands. It is written, "I will command and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations." It is also written, "He that scattered Israel will gather him," and, again, "I will plant them upon their land, and they shall no more be pulled up out of their land which I have given them, saith the Lord thy God" (Amos ix, 9, 15; Jer. xxxi, 10).

3. "And because he was of the same craft he abode with them and wrought, for by their occupation they were tentmakers." Paul loved, when possible, to earn his own bread, and he often testified that he did so that he might not be a burden to any of them (I Thess. ii, 9; II Thess. iii, [illegible]

9. "Then spake the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Be not afraid, but speak and hold not thy peace." He said to the Corinthians in his first epistle, "I was with you in weakness and in fear and in much trembling" (I Cor. ii, 3), so that there was some occasion for this special visit from his blessed Master and for this encouraging "Be not afraid." The eyes of the Lord are ever upon His people, for their good and to show His strength on their behalf (II Chron. xvi, 9). If necessary, He will send Gabriel or even a host of angels on our behalf.

10. "For I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to hurt thee, for I have much people in this city." It would seem that there were much disturbance and probably threats of violence to the person of Paul. Of these he would not be afraid, for he had already been scourged and imprisoned and stoned to death, but as the Spirit had recently been leading him on from city to city he might naturally think, in the light of recent leadings, that he was again to move on; hence the Lord's special visit and message to him. [illegible]

11. "And he continued there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them." He had but one theme, Jesus Christ of Nazareth, His life, death, resurrection and coming glory, but one book, the Scriptures, and but one power, the Holy Spirit. [illegible] The Spirit will guide us when to go, and when to stay, and how long to stay. He will give us the words to speak, and He will do all the work convincing of sin and righteousness and judgment. It is ours to be fully under His control for the glory of God.

EDITOR HELLSO'S ADVENTURE WITH THE GAS FIXTURE

He Knew It Was Loaded and Acted Accordingly. Something of an Apology. Not an Honorable Man. The Editor's Lecture on Columbus In Granite City.

We paid a business visit to Salt Lake last week, and we notice that The Tribune of that city tries to get up a laugh by saying that we went to bed by the light of a tallow candle instead of using the gas. This is quite correct, and we bought and paid for the candle. When we were ready to get into bed, we blew it out and locked it up in our satchel and carried the satchel to a far corner of the room. We are not a tourist, and our knowledge of the big world is not as extensive as it will be after we have visited Omaha and Chicago. We know nothing about gas, except that it is like an unloaded gun. There is a way to turn it off and on and hold the critter harmless, but we have never had time to experiment. Now and then we have had a tallow candle explode and scatter us more or less, but as a rule they are all right up to about midnight. If there is any laugh on us, it is all right. We took due precautions to get out of Salt Lake City alive and without broken bones, but we made a success of it. Had we fooled around with the gas fixture we should probably have been found dead in bed in the morning.

Something of an Apology.

Two or three weeks ago Mrs. K. T. Singleton gave an "at home" and did [illegible]

HE BEGAN SHOOTING WHILE WE WERE YET APPEALING.

[illegible]

...of our mind. Friday afternoon, while we were extra busy, he showed up for business. We asked to be excused for an hour—for half or quarter of an hour—but he insisted that his business was of more importance than ours and would not grant us a minute, even when we appealed to him as a gentleman. In fact, he began shooting while we were yet appealing. We hated to stop, but we had to. After the major had fired five shots at us we got up and took him by the neck and led him out on the street and then pounded him until he was thought to be dead. He came to after awhile, however, and it was found that a broken leg and a dislocated shoulder were his worst injuries. No one can feel sorry for him. A gentleman would have been politely willing to wait our convenience, and a respectable man wouldn't have shot our clock and cut and paste pot while shooting at us. We don't know and shall not ask what he had against us. He will be laid up for two months at least, and we hope he will spend a portion of his time in reading up on the social amenities.

Down on Columbus.

Two weeks ago the citizens of Granite City, through the mayor and other eminent residents, invited us to appear last Thursday evening and deliver our celebrated lecture on Columbus. We accepted the invitation and were on hand, and when we stood before the audience we found about 450 people assembled. It looked to us like a cultured audience, and we set out to do ourself full justice. We hadn't got Columbus away from his own fireside when we discovered that what four-fifths of the audience wanted was a topical song and a clog dance. Five minutes later, just as Columbus reached the front door with a determination to go out and discover something, the people were hissing. We hung to our subject, however, and then the bad eggs and dead cats began to fly, and we were pounded off the stage. They ought to have been satisfied with that, but were not. A gang of enthusiastic citizens hunted us down as we [illegible], and to escape them we had to hide in the brush for three long hours. As near as we can learn they were disappointed in Columbus. He was neither [illegible]. They were down on us because they were down on him, and we understand that a dozen men looked all around town for Christopher and intended to make it hot for him. We make no kick. If they want our lecture, they can have it; if they don't, we are always prepared to make fur cut down as soon as the first egg strikes us. We have no subscribers at Granite City, and we are glad of it. If we had two old ones there, one would probably think that George Washington was running this paper, and the other would want us to publish something funny about Noah's ark. M. QUAD.

A Good Stenographer.

The late Judge Richard Clarke presided in the Atlanta circuit of the superior court when one of the most remarkable murder trials was in progress. The evidence was conflicting, and the judge was called upon to charge the jury on some new and interesting legal points. The judge was a rapid talker. In this instance it was very important that every word he spoke should be correctly recorded, and he so cautioned the stenographer. Then Judge Clarke began. As he warmed up to his charge he was speaking at the rate of 250 words a minute. Then he glanced toward the stenographer. That worthy official seemed to be half sleeping over his work and apparently writing very slowly. "Mr. ——, are you getting my words down correctly?" asked the judge. At that the stenographer seemed to wake up. With little concern he replied: "That's all right, judge. I'm away! I am about 15 words ahead of you now."—Washington Post.

Charmed a Saint.

St. Simeon Stylites sat upon his pillar, where he had sat for the last 40 years without getting down. A chance, looking object shot by him. "What is that?" exclaimed the saint, surprised into breaking his 40 years' silence. "That, your holiness," replied the wayfarer, "is a new method of locomotion which has just become the fashion." "Well, well! I must see about this," said St. Simeon, and he climbed down from his perch and coaxed the wayfarer to show him how to mount his wheel. —Washington Capital.

WONDERFUL ALBATROSS.

Its Marvelous Flight In the Air and Its Ridiculous Waddle on Land.

The albatross has been the theme of poets and naturalists ever since the first one dawned upon the sight of man. The scientist has offered many theories for the bird's long sustained power of flight, but it remains an unsolved mystery forever. An albatross will follow in a ship's wake for days, sailing steadily along with no motion of the wings, silent and inscrutable as fate. No other bird has the phenomenal veer of the wings when the bird desires to turn an angle in the air. Despite the bird's marvelous power of sailing along, it is very hard for it to rise from the water.

The home of the albatross is in the Antipodes and the Auckland Islands. No lighthouse rears its head there, and heavy fogs and treacherous currents swirl about the place. The land is rough and mountainous on the coast, but inland marvelous flowers grow, wild flowers, ferns, gentians, and there millions upon millions of birds make their homes.

Among the coarse herbage the pure white head of the albatross moves the eye. The body is larger than that of the swan, and its expanded wings measure 17 feet from tip to tip. Its glory has departed, for, while nothing can be grander than its flight over the ocean, nothing is more ludicrous than its waddle on the land. Its only sign of defense is to flap its wings in a helpless manner, for it cannot use its wings.

The nest is a pile of earth like a child's mud castle, and in the cup shaped top the albatross lays one egg. During the 80 days the egg is hatching the mother does not stir from the nest, nor for a bit did the sea hawks would swoop down on the egg and destroy it. The young bird is covered with fluffy down pure white in color and silky as floss. The next thing is fed so assiduously that it becomes immensely fat and rivals its parent in weight. It is then deserted by the parents, who wander over the ocean, sometimes encircling the globe before returning home.

The most remarkable thing in the history of the albatross is that during the absence of the parents the young nestling does not receive a mouthful of food. During the whole time, sometimes four months, it lives on the fat it has accumulated. In the open nest on a bleak hillside the young albatross is exposed all winter to sharp winds and the fiercest gales that ever rush across the ocean, yet at the end of its fast the young bird is lively and in good condition.

The reason the parent birds go away is not known. Their desire for flight is a mystery, for it is not the same as the migration of our northern birds to the south. When the parents return, they unceremoniously hustle out the nestling, which has become a dusty gray in color, and set about repairing the nest. The young bird still stays around, waiting in many pretty ways its fond men for its parents, and not till next year does it take its first flight to sea in company with its hard hearted father and mother.—Chicago News.

Naturally Fatigued.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Relics of Buffalo Hunting.

A son of an Iroquois half breed went out one day with other Indians to run buffaloes along the Red river, but he never returned. They found his horse and his gun and knife, but could not find the man.

About a year later, as the Indians were hunting in another part of the country, a buffalo cow was seen which had something peculiar on her head. They chased and killed her and found that her singular ornament was the pelvis of a man, one of her horns having pierced the part of the bone which was on so tightly that they could scarcely get it off.

[illegible] the hair on the head, neck and shoulders of the cow was worn off, and on the side on which the bone was the hair looked as if it had been worn off the skin and was beginning to grow out again.

It is supposed that this bone was part of the missing half breed, who had been attacked by the cow and carried about on her head until his body fell to pieces.—Exchange.

Ann Moore.

Ann Moore died at Studley Green, Wiltshire, England, aged 115 years, in 1795. It is recorded of her that "she had been and continued till she was upward of 100 years the most noted poacher in that part of the country and frequently boasted of selling to gentlemen fish taken out of their own ponds. Her coffin and shroud she had purchased and kept in her apartment more than 20 years."

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

Prescriptions for the Alleviation of Financial Distress.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, in the following sermon, shows how all may help usher good times. The text is: "Wherefore doth a living man complain?" Lamentations iii, 39.

A cheerful interrogatory in the most melancholy book of the Bible! Jeremiah wrote so many sad things that we have a word named after him, and anything is surcharged with grief and complaint, we call it a jeremiad. But in my text, Jeremiah, as by a sudden jolt, wakens to a thankful spirit.

Our blessings are so much more numerous than our deserts that he is surprised that anybody should ever find fault. Having life, and with it a thousand blessings, it ought to hush into perpetual silence everything like criticism of the dealings of God. "Wherefore doth a living man complain?"

While everything in our national finances is brightening, for the last few years the land has been set to the tune of "Naomi." There has been here and there a cheerful soloist, but the grand chorus has been one of lamentation, accompanied by dirges over prostrated commerce, silent manufactories, unemployed mechanism, and all those disorders described by the two short words, "hard times." The fact is that we have been paying for the bloody luxury of war, more than 30 years ago. There were great national differences, and we had not enough Christian character to settle them by arbitration and treaty, and so we went into battle, expending life and treasure...

...weather, and I believe you are living this time!

Some people are so overburdened with the deficiencies of the times that they fear we shall have communistic outrages in this country such as they had in France. I do not believe it. The parallel does not run. They have no Sabbath, no Bible, no God in France. We have all these defenses of our American people, and public opinion is such that if the people in this country attempt a cut-throat, extinction, they will land in Sing Sing, or from the gallows go up on tight rope. I do not believe the people of this country will ever commit outrage and theft and murder for the sake of getting bread. But all this lugubriosity of tone and face keeps people down. Now, I will make a contract. If the people of the United States for one week will talk cheerfully, I will open all the manufactories; I will give employment to all the unoccupied men and women; I will make a lively market for your real estate that is eating you up with taxes; I will stop the long processions on the way to the poor house and the penitentiary, and I will spread a plentiful table from Maine to California and from Oregon to Sandy Hook, and the whole land shall carol and thunder with national jubilee. But says some one, "I will take that contract that we can't feel the whole nation." My hearer and readers, representing as you do a professional, all trades, and all occupations, if you should resolve never again to utter a dolorous word about the money markets, but by voice and by wit and caricature, and above all by faith in God, to try to scatter this national gloom, do you not believe the effect would be instantaneous and widespread? The effect would be felt around the world. For God's sake, and for the sake of the poor and for the sake of the employed, quit whining...

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

"WHEN HE'S IN LIQUOR."

How Young Master Mouse Escaped Mrs. Pussy's Claws.

Once upon a time a pussy cat lived in the house of a family who drank beer every day. The beer was kept in a large pot in the storeroom, but each day a large brown jugful was drawn off, and left ready on a table below the storeroom shelf, till it was wanted for dinner.

In a safe hole in the corner of this shelf there lived a nice little mousie, who had a promising young family. She was bringing them up with great care, and among other precepts she had warned them never to taste the beer. Now, the eldest of her family was a very self-opinionated young mouse, and he said to himself: "My mother's ideas are old-fashioned, at any rate, I'll taste the beer at the first opportunity, and judge for myself." Accordingly, the first day his mother went to market he crept along the shelf and leaned over the edge to taste the beer, when, flop! he fell into the jug. The shock was very unpleasant, and the taste and the smell nearly sickened...

HE FELL INTO THE JUG.

GENERAL GLEANINGS.

IS CONSIDERED DISREPUTABLE

The Rapid Decrease of Drunkenness in the United States.

The arrest and humiliation of a member of one of the companies of the Illinois national guard at Camp Lincoln for drunkenness was an event invested with more significance than attaches to a mere infraction of military discipline. It is true that the state does not want any drunkards enrolled to defend it. Intoxication has certainly ceased to be a soldierly attribute, if it ever was one, in this country.

But there was a time when the occurrence at Camp Lincoln would have excited nothing more than passing comment. It would have been regarded as one of the commonplace "larks" to which rollicking soldier boys are wont to abandon themselves. But this time the offender was not only subjected to much humiliation but was severely punished under the new law governing the military forces of the state.

The incident furnishes occasion for adverting to the unmistakable growth of a public sentiment that refuses to condone alcoholic excesses.

Intemperate indulgence in alcoholic stimulants is more thoroughly under the ban of public disapproval in this country to-day than ever before in our history. In every avenue of human endeavor the habit of drunkenness is properly regarded as a mark of disqualification. Such palpable lack of self-control is, by common acknowledgment, the surest sign of unfitness for any of the responsibilities of business or society.

There is no doubt that the development of such a sentiment has resulted in a marked decrease in drunkenness...

Grant's Aversion to Liars.

In The Century General Horace Porter, in his "Campaigning With Grant," dwells upon Grant's aversion to liars. He quotes the following remarks from General Rawlins:

"The general always likes to tell an anecdote that points a moral on the subject of lying. He hates only two kinds of people—liars and cowards. He has no patience with them and never fails to show his aversion for them." Ingalls added: "Such traits are so foreign to his own nature that it is not surprising that he should not tolerate them in others. As man and boy he has always been the most absolutely truthful person in the whole range of my acquaintance. I never knew him to run into the slightest exaggeration or to borrow in the least degree from his imagination in relating an occurrence."

One of the party remarked, "I was amused one day to hear an officer say that the general was 'tediously truthful.' He explained that what he meant by that was that the general, in mentioning something that had taken place, would direct his mind so earnestly to stating unimportant details with entire accuracy that he would mar the interest of the story. For instance, after returning from a walk around camp he would say, 'I was told so and so about the wounded by Dr. —— while we were talking this morning inside of his tent,' and a half hour afterward he would take the trouble to come back and say, as if it were a matter of the greatest importance: 'I was mistaken when I told you that my conversation with Dr. —— occurred inside his tent. That was not correct. It took place while we were standing in front of his tent.'" There was much truth in this comment. No one who had seen any time with the general could fail to be struck with his excellent memory and the pains he invariably took to state occurrences with positive accuracy, even in the most unimportant particulars.

Valorous.

An old time lord mayor of London, whose sporting experience was limited, rode forth one day to join the city hunt in the fields about Marylebone. Placed by his escort under a tree, his lordship heard the hounds give tongue in the distance, and the sounds grew louder and louder, till one of the city escorts shouted out, "The hare comes this way, my lord." The lord mayor rose to the occasion, and, drawing his sword, he exclaimed heroically: "Let him come! I thank my God I fear him not!"—Household Words.

The Busiest Consul.

The busiest consul in the world is the British consul at New York. The British shipping at New York aggregates about 4,000,000 tons annually, and from 25,000 to 30,000 seamen are paid off and shipped each year involving the handling of about $750,000 for seamen's wages.

Japanese Alloys.

The composition of a number of Japanese alloys hitherto kept a close secret is said to be, as now revealed by workmen making them, as follows: The "shakdo" is an alloy of copper and from 1 to 10 per cent of gold, the objects being placed in a mordant of sulphur of copper, alum and verdigris, until they have assumed the coppered or blue black hue of sword sheaths and decorative articles. Another of these is "gin shi bu ichi," a copper alloy with 30 or 50 per cent of silver of the well known gray color. What is called "mokume" is a compound of several alloys. About 30 plates of foils of gold, shakdo, copper, silver and the last mentioned alloy are soldered together, holes are made and the plate hammered out and put in the mordant. The finest Japanese brass "sinchu" consists of ten parts copper and five of zinc, and of bell metals "karakane" is made of ten parts of copper, four of tin, one-half iron and 1½ zinc, the copper being melted first and the other metals added in the above order.—Exchange.

A Hay Fever Victim Made Happy.

The Hirons Medicine Co., Fort Wayne, Ind.

GENTLEMEN:—I have been afflicted with Hay Fever in its most malignant form for years. The first attack would appear in June. During August and September my sufferings were intense. Water would run from my eyes and nose, the paroxysms of sneezing were uncontrollable, and I had terrible burning pains in my head. I learned of your Double Treatment for Catarrh and Hay Fever and procured it at once. After having used three bottles of the remedies I was entirely cured. I heartily endorse your valuable medicine, and advise all Hay Fever sufferers to give it a trial. (Signed.)

CATARRH.

What the Resident Manager of the Chicago Newspaper Union has to Say

The Hirons Medicine Company, Fort Wayne, Ind.

GENTLEMEN:—Your Mr. A. R. Hirons persuaded me to give your Double Treatment for catarrh a trial, and after having used it about 30 days, I can honestly say that the results have been very satisfactory. I have been a sufferer from the disease since childhood, and was so bad at times that the membrane would bleed constantly. By the use of your medicine I have stopped the bleeding, my head is greatly relieved, and I have no more difficulty with my breathing. Yours truly

CHARLES D. TODD.

A Word From Charles Yagerlehner, the Electrician.

DEAR SIRS:—I have had a bad case of catarrh for 14 years. There was a constant dropping of mucous into my throat. Every morning my nose, head and throat would be filled up. After a terrible siege of trying to remove the mucous I would become so sick that it was with difficulty that I could eat my breakfast. I had no appetite. The disease developed into bronchitis and dyspepsia. I read of your Double Treatment for Catarrh, and after having used your remedies for a short time, I can cheerfully say that now my appetite is good, I have no more trouble with indigestion, my throat is well, and my general health has not been as good for years.

(Signed)

Michigan In Summer.

Northern Michigan has increased in popularity as a place for summering, not only on account of the climatic conditions but because it provides such a variety of pleasures for such a variety of people. With the opportunities so great for the enjoyment of congenial society, the fishing, boating, bathing, the excellence of the hotels and clubs, the comforts of cottage life, there is no chance for monotony. The climate, owing to the proximity of the great lakes and the latitude, is no where equalled for the invigoration of tired and worn out humanity.

THE METHOD OF A GREAT TREATMENT

Painful diseases are bad enough but when a man is slowly wasting away with nervous weakness, the mental forebodings are ten times worse than the most severe pain. There is no let up to the mental suffering day or night. Sleep is almost impossible and under such a strain men are scarcely responsible for what they do. For years the writer rolled and tossed on the troubled sea of sexual weakness until it was a question whether he had not better take a dose of poison and thus end all his troubles. But providential inspiration came to his aid in the shape of a combination of medicines that not only completely restored his general health but enlarged his weak, emaciated parts to natural size and vigor and he now declares that any man who will take the trouble to send his name and address may have the prescription of this wonderful remedy free. Now when I say free I mean absolutely without cost because I want every weakened man to get the benefit of my experience.

I am not a philanthropist nor do I pose as an enthusiast but there are thousands of men suffering the mental tortures of weakened manhood who would be cured at once could they but get such a remedy as the one that cured me. Send me your name and address today. Do not try to study out how I can afford to pay the few postage stamps necessary to mail the information but send for the remedy and learn that there are a few things on earth that although they cost nothing to get they are worth a fortune to some men and mean a life time of happiness to most of us. Write to Thomas Slater, Box 210, Kalamazoo, Mich., and the information will be mailed in a plain sealed envelope.

CAIRNS APPOINTD

Frank J. Mannix May Succeed Him—Engineer McCarthy Has a Thrilling Experience.

Yesterday the announcement was made of the appointment of [illegible] M. Cairns to the position of assistant general foreman of the Pennsylvania company's shops at Chicago, to succeed A. P. Schmucker, whose resignation was announced in this column several days ago. Mr. Cairns is a gang foreman in the main shops of the company in this city under General Foreman Hurlihan, and the news of his appointment was received with pleasure by his fellow workmen, by whom he is well liked. Mr. Cairns is a man of great skill and ability and he will undoubtedly fill his new position with perfect satisfaction to the company. He leaves for Chicago tomorrow evening and will assume his new duties next Monday.

Frank J. Mannix, who has been Mr. Cairn's assistant for some time, will most likely succeed the foreman in the position of gang foreman, although the appointment to fill the position is not looked for before a week or two.

At noon today, the employes of machine shop, on the erecting floor, presented Mr. Cairns with a handsome gold-mounted briar pipe as a mark of the esteem in which he was held by the men under him, the presentation being made by Frank Mannix, who, in a brief and fitting speech, told of the pleasure the men felt when they heard of his appointment and of their well wishes for his future success.

ERIE LINE SHORT OF CARS.

E. S. Dailey, the local agent of the Lake Erie and Western railroad yesterday received the following telegram:

Muncie, July 30, 18[illegible]

To all agents:

We are getting very short of grain cars, both local and Baltimore and Ohio. Please see that all cars received under load are promptly released and placed in service immediately.

J. B. Thomas,
Trainmaster L. E. & W. R.

This is the first time in years it such an order has been received at the offices in Fort Wayne, which have also been notified that trains on the main line of the road have been put on again on account of the heavy movement of freight over the lines.

DIVERTING TRAFFIC.

Since the new Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf Road has been opened through from Kansas City to the gulf, its course has been watched with a good deal of concern by the roads running from the west to the Atlantic seaboard. The extent to which it will be able to divert traffic from the formerly established routes of travel is to them a matter of vital importance. Recent events have not served to dissipate their fears or lessen their concern. The way in which the new road is reaching for traffic and getting it is surprising even to the officials of the road itself. They have already demonstrated that the road is going to be a most formidable competitor of the overland routes. In all matters relating to the western freight problem it must hereafter be taken into consideration as a most important factor.

At the present time the road is increasing its gross earnings at the rate of about 400 per cent, and net earnings at the rate of about 300 per cent. In addition to being a grain carrying road, the new competitor is going to be an important coal road. It has several productive mines of smokeless coal on its lines, and just now it cannot supply cars fast enough to fill the orders of the coal men. It has also a number of stone quarries, which are certain to give it very profitable freight in large quantities.

In former times it was supposed that packing house products could not be shipped for export by gulf ports except in the coldest winter months. The Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf has demonstrated that they can be safely shipped by that route at any season of the year, and it is prepared to be an active competitor for the export trade of Kansas City in this direction. This will be another blow at the trade of the roads with eastern terminals.

NARROW ESCAPE.

There was some excitement on westbound Nickel Plate train No. 5 last evening and only the presence of mind and quick action of Engineer Michael McCarty prevented a terrible accident and consequent loss of life. The train was speeding at the rate of forty or fifty miles an hour between Dunfee and Peabody and shot around a curve. A few rods ahead Engineer McCarthy saw a hay wagon on the track, and the whistle screeched out a warning. The wagon did not move and Engineer McCarthy succeeded in stopping his engine within five feet of the wagon. On top of the load of hay were two farmers, both so badly frightened they could scarcely move and the horses were trying their best to run away. The coupling pole between the front and rear wheels of the wagon had broken just as the wagon turned the curve, and one end of the pole had struck in the ground and made it impossible for the horses to move the wagon. The engineer and passengers pushed the wagon off the track, and the train went ahead, the farmers scarcely realizing that a few seconds' delay on the part of Mr. McCarty would have hurled them both into eternity.

CONDUCTOR FOUND DEAD.

The dead body of Thomas Mulcahy, a local conductor on the Pittsburg road running between this city and Lima, Ohio, was found at Mineral Beach, just north of Warsaw, this morning, with a contusion over the left temple. The deceased had secured passes over the Pennsylvania lines to Chicago last Monday, with the intention of taking a much needed rest of several weeks, and the last time he was seen alive was on Thursday afternoon, when a fireman on the Eagle Lake train at Warsaw saw him. It was said that he was dead for some time before being found. The deceased resided at Lima, where he had his lay over on his run, and his wife this morning telegraphed to Trainmaster J. W. Clark for passes to Eagle Lake, where she intended to visit. Mr. Clark speaks well of the dead conductor and says he was a good man and valued employe.

Engine 153 has been sent to the Nickel Plate shops at Stony Island for general repairs.

Passenger Conductor Lee Kanaga, of the Pittsburg, is taking a vacation of a week or ten days.

W. A. McGowan, contracting agent of the Lake Erie and Western railway at Cincinnati, is in the city.

This is a very busy day for the shop clerks, as they have to make out their reports for the month of July.

Fred Boester has secured the contract of erecting a new residence for A. M. Tower, the Pittsburg machinist.

Jap Ekaall, of the polishing department of the electric works, is off duty today attending to private business.

Bert Hartman, of the motor department of the electric works, left this morning for Eagle lake, where he will spend Sunday.

Conductor W. Kitselman, of the Nickel Plate, is taking a lay off to entertain his brother, who is here from Michigan on a visit.

Fred Starkey, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shops, has returned to work after a couple of days absence on account of a sprained back.

Since Charles M. Hays became general manager of the Grand Trunk railway salaries on the road have been reduced $[illegible] a year.

T. B. Hunter, general foreman of the Pennsylvania company's shops at Chicago, was in the city today on business with the company's officials here.

The Erie railway has its entire freight equipment, both cars and power, now in service, and business is nearing the maximum with that road.

Nickel Plate Brakeman J. C. Miller, who was on the "lame" run out of Bellevue for a few days, has returned to resume his work on the road here.

Wallace [illegible], of the shipping department of the electric works, is today celebrating his twenty fifth birthday by working as usual in the store room.

The Fort Wayne Electric corporation yesterday shipped a forty horse power motor to Hamilton, Ohio, and a five horse power motor to St. Paul, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. James Southern and son are at Chicago visiting Mr. Southern's daughter, who is sick. Mr. Southern is the Pittsburg passenger engineer.

The Nickel Plate will run a special train from this city to Cleveland next Tuesday afternoon on account of the Lutheran synod in that city next week. From present indications nearly 200 will go on the train.

William Driftmyer, of the construction department of the Fort Wayne Electric corporation, has returned from Appleton, Wis., where he installed the large carbon machines sent to that city by the Electric corporation.

It is reported at the shops today that Joseph F. Woolf, of the Pittsburg machine shop, will return to work next Monday, after an absence of nearly a year on account of sickness. His shopmates will be glad to see him at work again.

John B. Van Cleve is dead. He was connected with the accounting department of the Pennsylvania lines for sixteen years, leaving the position a few months ago to become general bookkeeper of the First National bank of Sewickley, Pa.

It is the opinion of master mechanics of the Pennsylvania lines that the class L engines, with the eighty-inch driving wheels, will haul ten cars over any road with a fair grade at a speed of seventy-five miles an hour and for long distances.

A freight train was stalled in Lewis tunnel Thursday night, on the Chesapeake and Ohio, and the crew was overcome by the foul air. Conductor Ed Bray is dead, and Sam Hamilton, Ed Warnick and Tom Kane wood are in a precarious condition.

A reduced rate tendered by the western roads to the League of American Wheelmen for its annual meeting to be held in Philadelphia, August 4-7, has been declined by the league because the roads insisted attaching the certificate feature to the tickets.

For several days it has been rumored about the city that the Lake Erie and Western railroad would take a train off this branch on account of the scarcity of coal. There is no truth in the rumor whatever, as the road has sufficient coal on hand for all purposes.

The car shops of the Pittsburg are closed today and only the men at work on car wheels and axles are employed. The department is rushed with orders for car wheels and two lathes in the machine shop of the locomotive department are at work helping out the other department.

A recent law of Pennsylvania requires railroads to reveal the names of owners of bonds, that their taxation may be possible. The Nickel Plate is unable to furnish such information, and a penalty of $35,000 has been added to its regular taxation. So many of the bonds are held abroad that the company is unable to name its bondholders.

Arrangements had been made by about twenty of the employes of the Pennsylvania offices at the new yards for a run to Maysville on their wheels last night, but when the time arrived for the start only three showed up at the starting point. They left on the trip, but when twelve miles out one of the wheels became disabled and the riders returned to the city.

Garrett Herald: "Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Harrison, their daughter, Ida, and Mr. Fitzpatrick, of Fort Wayne, visited with the family of Mort Broughton, Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Fitzpatrick is master mechanic and Mr. Harrison foreman in the Pittsburg shops in Fort Wayne and both are very congenial gentlemen to meet. Miss Harrison will remain several weeks. He was accompanied by his father, James Ten Eyck. They were met at the pier by a big delegation of oarsmen and as the young champion stepped down the gang plank a ringing cheer went up. WONDERFUL AND INTERESTING.

A New Vaudeville Show by Clever Artists.

In speaking of the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth, it has been said that it is most wonderful and exceedingly interesting from every point. There is a veritable Midway in the menagerie tent where male and female artists of all kinds and troupes of beautiful and interesting ladies exhibit some characteristic accomplishments, showing how they play upon odd kinds of musical instruments, accompanied with dancing and singing. The visitor is again wonderfully interested in the monster Johanna, the only gorilla in captivity, whose astonishing and most human like appearance and actions are startling to every beholder. Two menageries of trained and wild beasts are an invariable source of interest to every one, with the 50 cages of rare and curious quadrupeds but in addition to these there are the dens of wild beasts who obey the word of an unarmed man, and perform marvelous feats, and scores of rare animals not on exhibition anywhere else. Three rings, three stages, a race track, and the aerial acts, are necessary to show the 100 acts of the circus, where there are as many as 300 different expert performers in all lines, and sixteen champion bareback male and female riders. It is truly a marvelous show, and will be here, undivided, on Monday, August 23, with a new street parade in the morning showing the great team of forty horses and the reproduction of the grand event known as the Return of Columbus to Barcelona which took place 400 years ago, nursery rhymes, children's fables and stories.

In fact, until I got a box of Dr. Hobbs Sparagus Kidney Pills from the drug store of B. F. Keesling a couple of weeks ago, I had not been free from pain in many years. THE Racycle NARROW TREAD

Do You Know A Good Thing When You See It?

Notice the large Sprocket Wheels. They afford many special advantages found on no other Bicycle. There is very much less friction at any one, on chain or sprocket, consequently much more durability. No side lashing of the chain consequently, no loss of power in this respect. 20 per cent. less strain upon chain, increasing safety. Can be propelled with very much less power than ordinarly constructed wheel.

Large sprocket wheels located between the bearings, consequently crank shaft is always at right angle with alignment and sprocket parallel. An important feature found exclusively on the Racycle.

Consult your own interests by examination of this wonderful Bicycle.
